AGNEWBRUSAVICH ADDS LITIGATION ATTORNEY TERRY SCHNEIER

TORRANCE, CA – AgnewBrusavich, a Torrance-based serious personal injury law firm, has added attorney Terry Schneier to its team. With more than 26 years of litigation experience, Ms. Schneier has represented healthcare clients in regulatory and compliance matters and elder abuse claims, as well as healthcare professionals in medical licensing issues. She has also litigated nursing care facility survey and certification cases in state and federal proceedings, assisted with elder abuse and neglect investigations, and represented physicians, nurses and other health professionals in licensing disputes.

“Terry has enormous litigation experience, but what’s most impressive is her track record. She’s gone head-to-head against major state and federal regulatory agencies—and won. That’s invaluable experience that any law firm would covet,” says Partner Gerald Agnew.

“We also look forward to Terry continuing her success representing plaintiffs in elder abuse and neglect cases. Due to her experience on both of sides of elder abuse matters, we know she will be an effective advocate for our clients in prosecuting claims against medical providers and those charged with the care of the elderly,” adds Partner Bruce Brusavich.

Prior to joining AgnewBrusavich, Ms. Schneier worked for several prominent Los Angeles law firms, litigating a number of high profile matters against state and federal agencies, including California Department of Health, U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, and the Center for Medicare and Medicaid Services.

She obtained her JD from Southwestern University School of Law, Masters of Business Administration from University of Judaism and Bachelor of Arts from Brandeis University.
